Robert M. Stuart joined the faculty of Sinclair Community College in 1968 as a part-time instructor in the Business Division. In 1971, he became a full-time faculty member. As the result of his high quality performance, he was awarded academic tenure in 1974 and attained the rank of full Professor in 1978. Until Mr. Stuart's retirement in 1985, he taught management, traffic/transportation, and aviation administration courses.

In addition to his classroom teaching where he was known as a student oriented, excellent instructor, Mr. Stuart developed and implemented the Aviation Administration and Traffic and Transportation programs. They were developed in 1969, 1970, and implemented in the 1971 time period. During the same time, he also worked to develop the Food Service Management program, which was implemented in the 1973-74 time period.

Mr. Stuart served as a department head until 1975 and he continued to manage the Traffic and Transportation Department until his retirement. He was highly regarded by his colleagues who found him to be a dedicated and loyal faculty member.

Mr. Stuart, during his affiliation with Sinclair Community College, exhibited all of the qualities and attributes which fully qualify him as an outstanding candidate for the emeritus honor.
