For more than twenty five years Patty has been an enthusiastic, exciting, challenging, and fun faculty member at Sinclair Community College.

Patty developed numerous CIS courses to meet our student’s needs and improve student success. She was instrumental in positioning the department to become a Cisco regional academy and Microsoft authorized training partner. She designed, developed, and launched the Java Enterprise Development (JEDI) Fast Track Program for high-level, senior developers at Lexis-Nexis Corporation as well as creating the Data Analytics short term certificate.

Patty contributed in a variety of ways outside of the classroom. She served as Acting/Interim Chair of CIS Department, planned and coordinated several annual IT Works state-wide conferences, supported 19 IT high school sites for Tech Prep, developed, chaired, and conducted the annual “We Are IT” Conference for 8 years, and served as the faculty advisor to the CIS student club.

Patty was awarded College-wide/Divisional Merit 24 times. She was awarded the 2003 NISOD Excellence Award for the Business Division and was Sinclair’s 2008 nominee for the U.S. Professor of the Year Award by Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.
